

Andrea Light

Senior Marketing Manager,
Johnson & Johnson

Andrea Light is a senior marketing manager at DePuy Synthes with extensive experience in medical device marketing and a proven track record of building high-performing teams through innovative strategy and execution. Andrea holds a bachelor's in mechanical engineering from Union College and an MBA from Babson College. She has spent the majority of her career in marketing leadership roles in the medical device sector. Andrea serves on the Equality Fund Advisory Committee and is active in local organizations including Open and Out, Dot Out, and the Dorchester planning committee. Andrea lives with her wife in Dorchester, Mass. They enjoy spending much of their free time at their Provincetown condo, enjoying the beach and outdoors, and traveling.

