Cameran Mason

Chief Advancement Officer, Museum of Fine Arts Boston

Cameran Mason, Chief Advancement Officer at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, heads the Museum's division of external relations, which is charged with institutional advancement across all areas of development, governance, membership, and communications. Her portfolio includes fundraising, gifts of art, donor stewardship, membership, creative services, marketing, and public relations.

Prior to joining the MFA in 2018, Cameran served as vice president of resources and public affairs at Wellesley College. Cameran previously held the roles of vice president for institutional advancement at Barnard College and assistant vice president for development and alumni relations at Fordham University. Cameran earned a BA in economics and history from Wellesley College and a MPA from Princeton's School of Public and International Affairs. She has served on the boards of Community Rowing Inc. and the Dana Hall School and as a member of the Brown University President's Communications Advisory Committee.

The EQUALITY Fund
AT THE BOSTON FOUNDATION