

Eric Brown

Senior Vice President, Philanthropy, KeyBank

Eric S. Brown is the senior vice president and philanthropy director for KeyBank and vice president for KeyBank Foundation. He is KeyBank Foundation's philanthropy and employee engagement strategy leader and guides strategic grantmaking across Key's 15-state footprint. In his role, he is also responsible for philanthropy's financial and risk management and communications strategy.

Eric joined Key in 1996 as an operations manager for the then Essex Investment Group in Rochester, NY. Since that time, he has held several positions at Key including retail investments business analyst, Key Private Bank program manager, database marketing manager, and director of marketing and communications administration.

Eric holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in linguistics from Yale University. Eric serves on the board of trustees of the Broadway School of Music and the Arts in Cleveland, Ohio, and on the advisory committee for the Boston Foundation's Equality Fund. Eric and his husband, Dr. Howard Hernandez, reside in Boston, Massachusetts.

The EQUALITY Fund
AT THE BOSTON FOUNDATION

