

Boston Coaching for Completion Transition Coaching Partner Organizations

Boston Private Industry Council (PIC) is a nonprofit intermediary organization that connects business, the Boston Public Schools, higher education, government, labor, and community organizations to create and implement innovative education and workforce development strategies that benefit Boston residents and businesses alike. PIC postsecondary coaches connect students to valuable campus and community resources, helping them to navigate deadlines and requirements while balancing the demands of school, life, and work. www.bostonpic.org

Bottom Line is dedicated to helping students get in to college, graduate from college, and go far in life. The organization provides low-income and first-generation students with one-on-one guidance through the application process and during college. Bottom Line provides outcomes-based support driven by a rigorous curriculum and delivered by full-time staff members, who communicate regularly with students. www.bottomline.org

College Bound Dorchester knows that the young men and women who hang on the corners and in the back of classrooms have the power to end generational urban poverty. CBD seeks to transform communities by equipping the furthest off-track students with the attitude, skills and experience to graduate from college – changing college from the exception to the expectation. Their programs serve nearly 1,000 children and youth each year. www.collegebounddorchester.org

Freedom House transforms the economic and cultural fabric of high-need communities through education and leadership development. Preparing Urban Students for Success in Higher Education (PUSH) removes barriers to education by providing first generation college and lower-income students of color with college-level learning opportunities, intensive summer college preparation, and ongoing coaching throughout college. We inspire students to graduate high school, complete college, become gainfully employed and give back to their communities. www.freedomhouse.com

Hyde Square Task Force works to develop the skills of youth and their families so they are empowered to enhance their own lives and build a strong and vibrant urban community. Their programs for youth and families not only help them advance at school and in careers, but also give them opportunities to take pride and action in their communities. Their educational programs serve more than 1,200 young people each year. www.hydesquare.org

Match Beyond empowers young adults and college non-completers to earn postsecondary degrees – and to leverage these degrees into quality careers. The organization provides personal coaching, study support, and job placement services to low-income high school graduates and GED-recipients in Boston who enroll in affordable Associate’s and Bachelor’s degree programs at College for America, an innovative online arm of Southern New Hampshire University. www.MatchBeyond.org

Sociedad Latina works in partnership with youth and families to create the next generation of Latino leaders who are confident, competent, self-sustaining and proud of their cultural heritage. They implement a comprehensive Pathways to Success model that connects youth ages 11-21 with education, civic engagement, work readiness and arts & culture programming. Alumni go on to have successful futures in college, careers and community leadership. www.sociedadlatina.org

The Steppingstone Foundation develops and implements programs that prepare underserved students for educational opportunities that lead to college success. Each year, Steppingstone programs provide academic, social-emotional, and college readiness services after school and in the summer to more than 1,600 Boston students, beginning in fifth grade and continuing through college. www.tsf.org

West End House is an independent Boys & Girls Club in the City of Boston that provides outcomes-driven programs to 1,500 Boston youth residing in the most underserved neighborhoods. These high-impact programs provide opportunities in critical areas of youth development, ensuring that young people most in need are succeeding academically, exploring the arts, developing career readiness skills, and adopting healthy lifestyles. www.westendhouse.org uAspire is a nonprofit organization that works to ensure that all young people have the financial information and resources necessary to find an affordable path to – and through – a postsecondary education. To accomplish this mission, uAspire partners with schools and community organizations to provide free financial aid advice and advocacy to young people and families to help them overcome the financial barriers to higher education. www.uaspire.org
